The Hackathon em Português is an application-based event run by the Meta Attract team for students registered at a university in LATAM. The hackathon, which runs for 8.5 hours, involves teams of 5 students collaborating on three challenges for which they can earn points: a product thinking challenge (40 points), a quiz (25 points) and a coding challenge (100 points). The three teams that earn the most points are awarded first, second and third place and receive prizes.
